and Everything "O, K" The Howard County Democratic Convention was held in the New Assembly room, Eilicott City, Tuesday and Hon. John S. Tracey, Martin F. Burke and Lee Page Cronmiller, were chosen as delegates to the Fifth District Nominating Convention, which met at Catonsville Wednesday. The convention was called to order by Mr. Robert A. Dobbin, member of the County Central Committee, and Dr. L. M. Shipley was named as president, with Mr. Richard Davis as secretary.

When the committee on credentials, organization and resolutions was proposed, Mr. Michael Cooney, of the Fifth district delegation, objected to the admission of the credentials from the First district, as there was a contesting delegation in that district. One delegate from each of the other distric's was appointed as a committee on credentials, and after about an hour's deliberation, during which a number of witnesses were heard, the committee reported in favor of seating what they deemed as the regular delegation against whom charges had been made. The temporary officers were made permanent and resolutions reported.

Delegates to the convention were First district-Edward T. Jones, Benj. C. Sunderland, Walter Dorsey, William Kyne and Jas. Cassidy. Second-Harry C. Griffith, Randolph Groves, Edward L. Thompson, Martin F. Burke and Jesse Rhine. Third-L. M. Shipley, Howard Saffel.

Richard Davis, B. P. Isaac and Chaist Brosenne. Fourth-E. G. Selby, Thaddous Crapster, G. W. Linthicum, E. R. Jones and Samuel Ecker. Fifth-Jos. Smallwood, Thes. G. Donnell, Winfield S. Walich, M. H. Cooney and Pulaski Dorsey.

Sixth-Dr. W. C. Poe, Chas. D. Bausemer, John H. Busey, James L. Hobbs and Hammond Dorsey, Jr. The following resolutions read by Dr

W. C. Poe were presented: "Resolved, That we reaffirm the platform of the Democratic National Convention of 1892. We believe all taxes imposed beyond the needs of the government, economically administered, to be wrong, and that in this principle lies the essential difference between the Democratic and Republican parties. In accordance with the principles therein laid down, we renew the pledge of our party to the cause of tariff reform, and as our further guide, endorse the letter of acceptance of President Cleveland. "It is the sense of this convention that Hon. John G. Rogers is eminently fitted to carry out the pledges of his party and represent the Fifth Congressional district in the in se of Representatives, and with this in mind, we desire our representatives in the Congressional Convention to use all honorable means to secure his nomination.

A substitute to the above resolution was offered by Mr. Thomas O'Donnell, of the Fifth district but the convention deeming the first resolutions sufficiently definite the substitute was promptly voted down and the resolutions reported | days since whilst handling a revolver. by the committee were enthusiastically dopted. The substitute read: "Resolved by the Democrats of Howard County. That we enthusiastically endorse the actministration of Grover Cleveland, and accept his ideas of tariff reform as the true Democratic doctrine."

Conspicuous among those were Mr. Daniel M. Murray of the First district who was working hard in the interest of his delegation which contested the right of those seated. Although Mr. Marray was disappointed in some respects he expressed himself as freely accepting the result of the convention, and said further, in the event of his nomination, the First would be solid for Mr. Rogers for congress.

Church at Urbana on Wednesday morning, September 5th, at 9 o'clock, Revs. T. E. Peters and D. M. Browning, officiating. Promptly at the appointed time the bridel party arrived at the church and preeded by the four ushers, Mr. Chas. Dudderar, Mr. George Dudderar, Mr. Ralph Barnes and Mr. Wm. Chipley, moved slowly up the aisle to the strains of music as rendered by Prof. James H. Smith, and at the altar were soon pronounced man and wife. The bride wore a handsome suit of dark blue satin and carried a large beuquet of white roses and looked very charming as she stood under the floral arch and surrounded by beautiful flowers. A wedding breakfast was served after the marriage after which the bride and groom took the train for the South, where they will remain a few weeks and then locate at Solomon's Island, Md. The bride received many valuable presents. Among those present were Miss Gaither, of Sykesville, Miss Mamie Putts, of Baltimore, and Revs. Peters, Browning, Dudderac, Lowe, Beall, Moylan and Randall. A Remnant of the Old Guard. At a recent meeting of the Marriotts-

The friends of Mr. Hanson Beal Cavey, John R. Brown and others organized for the purpose of helping to loosen the shackles of the hundreds of disfranchised citizens of our glorious old State. The club accomplished much in that direction. The Doctor spoke feelingly of these staunch old Democrats all whom have been gathered to their fathers except Mr. Gorman, William Davis and Beal Cavey, who are still do ing battle in the same old cause—the enranchisement of their fellow citizens.

ELKRIDGE, Sept. 6.—The Elkridge Base-ball Club defeated the Boltons of Baltimore, by a score of 10 to 8, in a closely contested game at St. Denis Park, on Saturday last. The game was an exciting one from start to finish, and gave our boys the hardest tussle they have had this season. Tom West of the Elkridge had his shoulder dislocated by coming in contact with the third baseman. Penniman of the same club was hit on the head by a pitched ball, and Tem Owens of the Boltons, was rendered "hors du combat," by being hit by batter Hands, while attempting to take a ball off the bat. A garbled account of the Democratic primary election held here last Saturday appeared in Monday's edition of The Baltimore Sun. The facts in the case are entirely different. Mr. Robert A Dobbin and Messis. Hopkins and Hanson were nominated for president. At the first call Mr. Hopkins apparently had called for a division, when it was found that Mr. Hopkins had a majority of three. This the objecting parties disputed and seeing some new accessions to their ranks approaching called for a new vote, which was at first refused by Mr. Dobbin, but in order to "keep peace in the family" finally consented and passed each side out of the gate separately. Then it was found there were 30 for each candidate and Mr. Dobbin gave the deciding vote for Mr. Hopkins. Mr. George W. Pocock was then nominated for scere tary and there being no other nomination he was declared elected. McGuire and Mr. Daniel M. Murray, and admitted to practice at the bar of this court.

Before adjournment of court State's Attorney J. D. McGuire informed Judge lones of the desire of the members of he Ellicott City bar to take some apprepriate action in respect to the memory of the late Hon. Henry E. Wootton, who died in April last, and asked that a date agreeable to the court be named for such action. Judge Jones named to-day (Saturday) when suitable resolutions will be adopted. This was the first jury term since Mr. Wootton's death, hence the delay on the part of the members of the bar in taking action in the matter.

TUESDAY. There was little accomplished on l'nesday except in the case of Albert Dorsey vs. Robert E L. Griffith, on an appeal from Justice Wallenhorst, writ of globe. replevin. The case was held sub curia. McGuire for appellant and Rogers for appellee.

WEDNESDAY.

The court today was occupied in the trial of the damage suit for $5,000 brought by Richard W. Cain, of Montgomery county, against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. The case was removed here from Frederick county. Cain's charge against the company was the causing of his arrest in Washington without justification for his alleged misconduct while riding over the Metropolitan Branch. The plaintiff is represented by Alexander Kilgour and Joseph D. McGuire and the defendant corporation by George D. Penniman and John G. Rogers. The case will be concluded tomorrow. Wm. E. Dixon, against whom serious charges had been preferred, was released from custody today by order of the grand jury, the charges not being sustained. Rebecca Williams was indicted to-day for the murder of her husband, Thomas Williams, by poison, last March, near Lisbon. The leading feature of the occasion was the address by Mr. John M. Carter which was spoken in a clear and wellaccentuated manner and was listened to with profound attention. After the address the hymn known in the hymnal of the church as "The Church's one foundation," was sung by the choir, Mr. Jno. M. Bone leader and Miss Mary K. Holden presiding at the organ. THE ADDRESS.

From the earliest ages architecture seems to have been a favorite study and occupation of mankind. Imitating the Supreme Architect, who in six days or ages, according to modern science, created the heavens and the earth and all things therein contained, we find man, resorting to the rich abundance of material and building the cities of the plains. Then came the fiat that those cities should be destroyed and their inhabitants punished for their wickedness by being swept from the face of the This necessitated marine architecture and in the ark of divine design Noah and his family safely rode upon the flood and finally be held in the heavenly bow the covenant against a repetition of the watery curse.

But the restless spirit of Adam's seed again applied itself to the builder's art, and now, not content with the restoration of the cities and the renewal of the wickedness which had called down the curse upon their father's heads, they would protect themselves against the infinate displeasure and build a mighty tower which should reach even to the Heavens, and enable them successfully to flee from the terrible visitation which He had promised not to renew.

How infinitesmal the efforts, as well as the wisdom, of puny man? Confusion of tongues taught him the futility of opposing his Maker's will. In an instant brother was estranged from brother, father from son, friend from friend, and Babel commemorated the audacity of man's ambition and the merciful rebuke of an outraged Omnipotence. Still building went on, and the ruins of the majestic structures of the ancients to this day attest the truths of scripture in a manner most convincing to finite minds. It would seem, in fact, that ure should form the missing link in the

Doric, Ionic, and Corinthian were founded and illustrated in a manner that has never been equalled, much less excelled, in the world's subsequent history. Then came imperial Rome with her three centuries of supremacy over the known powers of the globe. Appropriating alike the wealth, the science and literature and the art of her fallen foes, she applied her vast resources to the builder's art. Obelisks were brought bodily from the banks of the Nile and planted in the plazas of the Eternal City. Grecian temples were imitated and varied to conform to the exactions of luxurious taste and pagan gods were housed in the most sumptuous abodes of human construction. So, too, throughout the pagan world everywhere. Ninevah and Babylon, Tyre and Sidon, Pempeil and Herculaneum were as busy with the Saracen as their neighbors with the classic architecture.

But a new era dawned. The time arrived for the building of a house to the living God. It was ordained that this should far excel in magnificence and splendor all the effort of pagan greatness and skill. The chosen people of God, released from bondage and having finished their wanderings in the wilder ness were gathered in the fertile land of Canaan. Their enemies had been driven away before them and they were a happy and prosperous people. Under divine inspiration David had accumulated a treasure amounting to nearly four housand millions of dollars. Solomon and added largely to this sum and by livine command the construction pro

Prohibition Abandoned.

The complete abandonment of prohibition by the Republicans of lowa is at tracting general attention. The New York Post says: "The Iowa Republicans have followed the example of their brethren in Kansas and entirely ignored the liquor question in their platform. There is not even the perfunctory declaration in favor of temperance which s the last refuge of the timid politician The incident is a striking proof of the decadence of prohibition.

Only three or four years ago the party was declaring 'against a compromis with the saloon,' and pledging 'continu ed opposition to the behests of the sa loon power through the maintenance and enforcement of the prohibitory law. Last winter a Republican legislature virtually repealed that law by establishing a kind of local option system, under which saloons may be started in any community which votes to have them, and now a Republican State convention by its expressive silence, announces that the party has abandoned all pretense of further belief in prohibition.

The croakers are now busy in trying to account for the failure of past prediction. They see no hope for vindication unless they can persuade the people of the United States that they did not know what aided them in 1890 and 1892, and that there can be no prosperity for the nation until it reverses itself and prostrates itself again before the protective Bual. But the people are not fools. They are tired of agitation. They are ready to give revenue reform a fair test. The yerdict of November will be a sober and reassuring announcement that the country rests satisfied and content to move forward on the lines laid down by the Democratic party as partially formulated in the fiscal measures adopted by Congress."

"September opens with strong confidence among business men. Never, perhaps, save in holiday time, has there been such shopping as Tariff Reform advertising has stirred up, and never has there been such a demonstration of the news value of the advertising page to the community. No woman would ever read a Tariff bill-it would be jar gon to her; but Tariff Reform prices have a specific meaning which she i prompt to grasp. The result in all probability will be the largest volume of dry goods trade ever known in a Fall season in this city. If other lines of trade in which there have been as great reductions in prices should be equally specific in impressing the fact on the public mind, what an extraordinary swell of business would flood all the trade channels.

The Modern Stage. Madame Janauscheck is righteously edignant at the introduction of Made line Pollard into theatrical circles. The modern desire to see those who have become notorious, no matter in what way, is responsible for the impositions that are put upon the public in the line of actresses that have no other attraction The Madame well says: "Notoriety no matter how infamously gained, is now the key to success! A woman shocks a community by a gross, immoral life and forwith some speculator thrusts her forward as an actress. Let her be the heroine of a divorce suit and she flickers as a star! And, though she may be ignorant of all that pertains to the actor's art, she is written up as a monumental genius; her intrigues; her pets; the diamonds with which she bedizens her person; and the crowd pays to see her-wabble about the stage.'
